Background
Sizani Foods has been manufacturing nutritional foods for feeding schemes and refugee camps since 1995. The company was started, and is still owned by Brian Moore who has always had a passion for improving the lives of others. He has achieved this through providing effective food products and efficient service to non-profit partner organizations. Sizani Foods also sponsors several feeding schemes on a daily basis and continues to assist projects where there is a need.

Sizani Foods operates from a factory and distribution warehouse in Midrand, South Africa. Our facility is a ISO 2200 FSSC Certified (Stage 1), food grade manufacturing facility. Our facility is also HAHAAL certified. We distribute in most provinces in South Africa, through a network of distribution warehouses and independent agents.

Sizani Foods exports to several countries in Africa and the Middle East.

Sizani Foods directly employs 35 staff and indirectly a further 70 people via project based contracts. We able to gear up quickly to tackle even the largest disaster relief food projects.

Brian Moore is the founder and sole owner of Sizani Foods. Brian Moore has worked in the food manufacturing industry in South Africa for more than 20 years, specializing in the manufacture and development of nutritious food products for feeding schemes.
